AquilaVision

creative minds, creative solutions™

January 7, 2011

As of December 1st 2010, AquilaVision is a public corporation trading on the Frankford stock exchange under the symbol cmp.f.

OTTER is a proprietary, patent pending event management and communication system. OTTER integrates with any hardware, sensor or system thereby, greatly extending existing event management and communications capabilities.

OTTER will automatically monitor, detect, and alert on any device specified, on any network, as soon as an event occurs.

- One can specify conditions ( business rules) that will trigger notifications and which devices will be triggered
- The system will call any phone on any network – cell phone, office phone, home phone – all simultaneously and instantaneously
- Can call an unlimited number of devices
- Peace of mind knowing that OTTER works without human intervention, and is actively monitoring your equipment around the clock.
- SMS, MMS, Video, conference calling

The system is completely customizable:

- Simple to configure - configures to the clients own business rules
- Persistence to continue calling until an acknowledgement is received
- Support for voice mail and answering machines
- Optional account validation for calls requiring additional security
- Extended event data available with a simple key press

Can be configured with device fail-over:

- Multiple layers of device fail-over, for those critical events in which human involvement is essential

Hands-off communications means set it and forget it. OTTER monitors 24/7.
Instant communication, as soon as an event happens.

OTTER has proven its effectiveness while deployed in the Middle East and throughout the United States on a wide variety of sensor and GPS-based assets. OTTER has wide support in the law enforcement community and 911 dispatch centers. From individuals in the criminal justice system to seniors and special-needs individuals, OTTER makes sure the right information is delivered to the right people at the right time.
